

Revelation Chapter 21:

We are given a view of what heaven will be like in these final two chapters. After all the deceiving and persecution, those who have remained faithful will take part in this great reward. God will be there and will care for His people. There will be no sadness at all, for God will take care of anything that might cause us grief.

God promises to richly reward those who overcome through the power that He provides. All others will have no part in this Kingdom but will remain outside of it.

The New Jerusalem is pictured in vast splendor and beauty. John tries to describe it to the best of his ability, yet all we can glean from his description is a place of wonder and majesty. We see precious metals and stones used in the construction and the radiance of the city. What a beautiful place it will be.

Those from every nation, whose names are in the book of Life will enter this city. There, the glory of God and His Son, Jesus, will shine day and night and there will be no need for another source of light. They will be there at all times and will allow all into their presence, so there will be no need for a special place of worship.

Revelation Chapter 22:

We see the promise of eternal life pictured in heaven as the free access to the tree of life. There we shall serve God.

Jesus speaks and says that the time for is coming is soon. Those alive, will continue to live as they always have. Jesus promises to reward the faithful though and punish the unbelieving.

Heaven and God's people await His coming. We need to ~~fully~~ accept this message otherwise our salvation is in jeopardy.
